

ARCHAEOLOGY

GCE AS Level

○ Archaeology is the study of past human societies from the investigation of their material remains. It is a fascinating and developing subject, with new discoveries being made all the time as techniques improve. This course will help you acquire a sound understanding of archaeological sources and methods. You can study it for interest or you can take the GCE AS examination as an external candidate.

PRESCRIBED SITES

For Paper I Section B the Prescribed Sites are as follows:

Up to June 2011

- Lascaux Cave
- Stonehenge
- Newgrange
- Wetwang Slack
- Flag Fen

From Jan 2012 to June 2014

- Vedbaek
- Thornborough
- Maeshowe
- Hochdorf
- Seahenge

However, for January and June 2012 only candidates will be able to answer Section B questions from either one 'old list' site or one 'new list' site. If you do not get the result you want in 2011 you will therefore have another two further opportunities to answer questions on the sites you have been studying.
